THE SILVER SWAN

Other Press, 2015. Book Condition: New. Brand New, Unread Copy in Perfect Condition. A+ Customer Service! Summary: "I've just finished reading an advance copy of The Silver Swan by Elena Delbanco and while still burning from the white heat of the final sequences I wanted to tell you, and anyone else who will listen, just how magnificent a first novel this happens to be. It's a tortured and passionate love story about a father and daughter and the musical heritage they share, centered on a treasured object, a Stradivarius cello that gives the novel its title--and it's a family story with an astonishing secret at its center. The prose flows beautifully from beginning to end, as though this were Delbanco's tenth novel rather than her first. The musical lore her story allows us access to will charm all lovers of classical concertizing. The love stories--there are several of them, each inextricably entwined with the other--will thrill all readers for whom the deepest human passions make the best melodies. I may be the first person to tell you this. I'm sure I won't be the last. A gorgeous debut that anyone who loves life and art will be thrilled--I'll say it again--thrilled to read." --Alan Cheuse, Book Commentator, NPR " The Silver Swan by Elena Delbanco is an intimate, passionate, triumphant story of love and betrayal. Mariana--the devoted child of a world-famous cellist who has promised her the Silver Swan, an invaluable Stradivarius--discovers secrets in her father's life that shake her world. Fast-paced and beautifully structured, Mariana's story--full of intensity--is one of depth, sexuality, and surprise." --Susan Richards Shreve, author of You Are the Love of My Life "How artfully Elena Delbanco writes about love and music and how deftly she explores the alliances and conflicts between the two. Best of...
