Absence from home prevented my own presence with the party, but those who were in this respect more fortunate than myself concur in saying that the day was spent in a most enjoyable manner. Mr. Burdon considerably provided a mid-day meal, and at the conclusion of the days ramble dinner was served at the Castle Eden Inn, Dr. Embleton occupying the chair. Nineteen new members were added to the Club on this occasion. On the 21st of July a party of about seventy members met on the banks of the Wear above Finchale Abbey. Two sections were formed, one walking down from Brasside Bridge to the Abbey, and thence by the direct road to Durham, the other keeping the right bank of the river to Durham by way of Eepier Woods and Hospita1. The weather was all that could be wished though the morning had been somewhat gloomy and threatening. The flush of spring flowers had to a large extent vanished from the woods, their places being taken by others which, if larger and more pretentious individually, were not so numerous or so brilliant in general effect as the masses of hyacinth, primroses, and forget-me-nots which greeted us a couple of months earlier at Hartford Bridge. The most abundant and conspicuous...
